

Grand Rounds in Cardiology

Scientific Evidence for Clinical Decision Making

The Tight Link Between Molecular Biology and Clinical Management in the Long QT Syndrome

Prof. Peter J. Schwartz

Center for Cardiac Arrhythmias of Genetic Origin, IRCCS Istituto Auxologico Italiano, Milan, Italy

The congenital long-QT syndrome (LQTS) is a life-threatening cardiac arrhythmia syndrome that represents a leading cause of sudden death in the young. Prof. Schwartz is a highly renowned expert in this field. He will outline the current knowledge about the genetics of LQTS and discuss essential points shaping the current approach to clinical management of these patients.
